First use

First flush the system with boiling water by running the tap until the water runs clear.

Operating tips

Hold your cup close to the spout to prevent splashing.

Indication light

The tap light will come on when the water in the tank is heating up. This will happen after use and also several times throughout the day to maintain the temperature.

On holiday (on/off)

If you are going on holiday for two weeks or more, it is economical to switch your Quooker system off using the Q-shaped button on top of the tank. The light will turn off.

Cleaning the tap aerator

If the water spray becomes irregular and/or starts splashing, you can clean the tap aerator by soaking in a water-vinegar solution.

Cleaning the tap

Just wipe using a damp microfiber cloth. Please note! Cleaning tools and agents including dishwashing brushes, scouring sponges, all-purpose cleaning agents, scale removers, acidic agents and solvents may damage the tap.

Maintaining the tank

In hard water areas, limescale will build up inside the tank and will need to be cleaned out periodically. We can arrange an engineer to do a full service. Alternatively, you can install a suitable descaling system. See our website for more details.
